Proclamation

ELIZABETH THE SECOND, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom, Canada and Her other Realms and Territories Queen, Head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith

OPEN FOR BUSINESS ACT, 2010

Order in Council 121/2013 directed the issuance of a proclamation in respect of the Open for Business Act, 2010. The proclamation was issued on January 23, 2013 and named March 1, 2013 as the day on which subsection 5 (17) of Schedule 2 to the Act comes into force. Order in Council 305/2013 directed the issuance of a proclamation to amend the original proclamation to change that date to September 1, 2013. That proclamation was issued on February 27, 2013. The revocation of the original proclamation as amended is now desired.

Therefore, we, by and with the advice of the Executive Council of Ontario, revoke the amended proclamation originally issued on January 23, 2013 in respect of the Open for Business Act, 2010, c. 16.

Amendments to the Distribution System Code

June 13, 2013

In the appropriate alphabetical place in section 1.2 of the DSC:

"business day" means any day that is not a Saturday, a Sunday, or a legal holiday in the Province of Ontario;

"day" means a calendar day unless specifically stated otherwise;

In section 3.1 of the DSC:

- 3.1.5 For non-residential customers other than micro-embedded generation facility customers, a distributor may define a basic connection by rate class and recover the cost of connection either as part of its revenue requirement, or through a basic connection charge to the customer.
- 3.1.5A For micro-embedded generation facility customers, a distributor shall define a basic connection and recover the cost of the basic connection through a charge to the customer. The basic connection for each micro-embedded generation facility customer shall include, at a minimum, the supply and installation of any new or modified metering.

In section 6.2 of the DSC:

- 6.2.6 Where the proposed micro-embedded generation facility is:
 - (a) located at an existing customer connection and a site assessment is not required, the distributor shall, within 15 days of receiving the application, make an offer to connect or provide reasons for refusing to connect the proposed generation facility;
 - (b) located at an existing customer connection and a site assessment is required, the distributor shall, within 30 days of receiving the application, make an offer to connect or provide reasons for refusing to connect the proposed generation facility; or
 - (c) located other than at an existing customer connection, the distributor shall, within 60 days of receiving the application, make an offer to connect or provide reasons for refusing to connect the proposed generation facility.

In all cases, the distributor shall give the applicant at least 30 days to accept the offer to connect and the distributor shall not revoke the offer to connect until this time period has expired.

- 6.2.6A If the connection of the micro-embedded generation facility will not require a site assessment, then the distributor cannot charge for the preparation of the offer to connect.
- 6.2.6B If the connection of the micro-embedded generation facility will require a site assessment, then the distributor may collect a connection deposit for the preparation of the offer to connect. The connection deposit shall not be more than $500 per offer to connect.
- 6.2.6C The connection deposit shall be provided in the form of cash, cheque, letter of credit from a bank as defined in the Bank Act, or surety bond. The distributor shall allow the applicant to select the form of the connection deposit.
- 6.2.6D If the distributor refuses to provide an offer to connect the micro-embedded generation facility due to technical limits or constraints, the connection deposit shall be refunded to the applicant. The distributor shall return the connection deposit to the applicant no later than 30 days after refusing to provide the offer to connect.

- 6.2.6E If the applicant does not accept the distributor's offer to connect the micro-embedded generation facility, or if the applicant withdraws its application, then the distributor shall retain the connection deposit.
- 6.2.6F If the distributor determines that the actual costs of connecting the micro-embedded generation facility to the distributor's distribution system are less than the connection deposit, the distributor shall, at the time of connection, refund the excess amount to the applicant.
- 6.2.6G Where the applicant provided the connection deposit to the distributor in the form of cash or cheque, and where the distributor has to refund any or all of the connection deposit to the applicant in accordance with this Code, the return of the connection deposit shall be in accordance with the following conditions:
- (a) interest shall accrue monthly on the connection deposit amount commencing on the receipt of the connection deposit by the distributor; and
 - (b) the interest rate shall be at the Prime Business Rate set by the Bank of Canada less 2 percent.
- 6.2.7 The distributor shall connect the applicant's micro-embedded generation facility to its distribution system within 5 business days, or at such later date as agreed to by the applicant and the distributor, of the applicant informing the distributor that it has satisfied all applicable service conditions and received all necessary approvals, providing the distributor with a copy of the authorization to connect from the ESA, entering into a Connection Agreement in the form set out in Appendix E and paying the distributor for the connection costs, including costs for any necessary new or modified metering.
- 6.2.7A The requirement in section 6.2.7 must be met 90 percent of the time on a yearly basis.
